

The North2North student exchange program provides opportunities for U of S students to experience other northern regions firsthand. Students can apply to study in Iceland, Finland, Norway, Sweden, Russia or Alaska for one or two terms.

The North2North program is organized through the University of the Arctic, an international network of educational institutions in the circumpolar countries. The program provides opportunities for students to develop an understanding of the northern cultures, increase knowledge of the different regions and their indigenous peoples, gain insight into the complexity of the northern environment and examine issues that these regions are facing such as self-government and sustainability.

University of Saskatchewan is an active participant in the N2N program by receiving and sending more students than any other Canadian institution. The program provides unique opportunities for mobility and reciprocal learning between northern students.

For more information about the North2North program, please go to students.usask.ca/goabroad or visit the International Student and Study Abroad Centre.

